Goals

Growing up with movies and comics, I have always been drawn to developing my imagination. I first immersed myself in the art world through drawing, and later discovered design when I entered art school.

I aim to continue in this field, honing my skills, becoming more creative, and sharing my values and passions through my work. My goal is to enjoy what I do for a living—creating, developing, and researching are what fuel me, and I want to keep pursuing this path.
